Dear Madam

Licensing (Scotland) Act 2005 - Section 36
Premises Licence Review Application
Noose and Monkey, 31 Rosemount Viaduct, Aberdeen
Premises Licence Number AC0377
Premises Licence Holder - Gray Pub Company Limited, c/o James Gray, Noose
& Monkey, Rosemount Viaduct, Aberdeen, AB25 1NQ

Following the meeting of the Licensing Board on 3 February 2015, it can be reported that substantial works have been carried out on the premises in an effort to negate the noise nuisance.

Environmental Health was advised on 19 May 2015 that works had completed. Following this notification, Nick Glover, Principal Environmental Health Officer, attended the premises to view the works. It initially appeared that the works and measures in place may be successful in preventing noise nuisance. However it was not possible to fully assess the effectiveness at that time. The complainant has reported that there is still a disturbance emanating from the premises. Specifically, the complainant reports that on Tuesday 2 June she was unable to sleep until after midnight due to bass noise. Following this notification, it has been arranged for the noise consultant instructed by the Licence Holder to visit the complainant's property to determine what further measures can be put in place to prevent the transmission of bass noise to the flat.

At present, Environmental Health has not been advised of the outcome of this visit. However, given that the Licence Holder has now shown a commitment to resolving the problem, Environmental Health are willing to withdraw the application on the basis that the Licence Holder undertakes to carry out any works and put in place any measures recommended by the noise consultant.

If the Licence Holder does not provide this undertaking, then Environmental Health respectfully requests that the review be continued for a short period to allow the service to inspect the complainant's property in order to assess whether the premises are causing a nuisance. Such an inspection is not possible prior to the Board meeting on 23 June 2015 as the complainant is on holiday from 18 June to 29 June 2015.

Andrew McLaughlin, solicitor, and Nick Glover, Principal Environmental Health Officer, will attend the Board meeting on 23 June to make this request and answer any questions that the Board may have.

Yours faithfully
