

World Cup Extensions LSO Response

After much discussion we have simplified this. Scotland is obviously the main concern, however the other nations that might require extensions, are England and Ireland. England thankfully, have early kick offs on all their games so don't concern us, Ireland have a very tough qualification route so are unlikely to concern us.

Therefor our proposal is, a blanket extension for Scotland games, with closing half an hour after the final whistle to allow for drinking up and dispersal.

The same for Quarter finals, semi finals and the final itself.

All other requests dealt with in the usual manner via an extension application. Should Ireland qualify, again this would be the usual process of individual extension requests.

In terms of fan zones, due to the times involved we don't think external fan zones are suitable.

There may be exceptions to this where the noise impact will be minimal how ever in general it will be very disruptive to the surrounding area.

We propose that any fan zone is submitted in the usual manner via application.

Regards LSO